Bo & Bub's Cosmic Ride is an exciting fulldome show set to upbeat music offering fun family-friendly entertainment for kids and adults of all ages.

This animated short follows Bo as he hops in his spaceship and zips across the cosmos to pick up his son Bub, waiting after school on another world far away. Bo travels effortlessly in his spaceship from the ocean depths into outer space.

Viewers marvel along on a scenic ride around the Moon, passing close by Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn — before jumping into hyperspace on a wild trip through a wormhole!

Arriving on the other side, Bo flies through a futuristic city floating in space around a white dwarf star. Bo and Bub are reunited, and make their way back. They have a blast along the way and return home safely to the ocean for further adventures.

This cute little show harkens back to the days of silent movies — but with a modern, animated twist.

The story tells itself through visuals and action, giving audiences a chance to imagine what Bo is thinking as he speeds through the cosmos to pick up his son, and what Bub is thinking on the ride home. It's a cute, family-friendly short animation, set to Axon Genesis' distinctive, vibrant music.

Axon Genesis is the sole work of Stephen Walker, a multi-disciplinary artist and developer, based in Austin, Texas. Known for his fulldome animated feature Horizons of the Future, Stephen's work is made using custom-built animation tools in Unity game engine, leveraging real-time rendering as a production tool.
